

Oksana Hrydzhuk

SPECIFICITY OF TRAINING TEXTS FOR TEACHING
PROFESSIONAL TERMINOLOGY TO STUDENTS OF THE FORESTRY UNIVERSITY

Enhancing of professional competence by means of Ukrainian language processing is possible due to thorough professional terminology based on certain types of professional texts, research methods of their semantic structure, analysis of basic terms etc.

The purpose of the article are to determine the selection criteria of educational texts for teaching professional terminology; justification of the need to develop practical skills in students with scientific text and on this basis the forming of their conscious approach to the choice of linguistic resources, grammatical forms, correct syntax for formulating expressions in professional activities.

One of the main aspects of the text information meaningful and terminological aspects are of particular importance for the study of "professional terminology"

Study of the scientific text in teaching the course "Professional Terminology" includes a variety of activities: the skills of the assembly of different genres of scientific text; correct formulation of expression; correct grammar and spelling errors; building of saying in scientific style; use of terms according to their meaning; avoidance of lexical repetition; appropriate input to text term phrases; proper construction of syntax; Ukrainian translation of scientific text; distinguishing values of synonyms valued terms, synonyms, homonyms etc.

To adopt text materials accordance with the requirements of the goals and objectives of professionally oriented education, training and personal development expert, modernity and relevance, representativeness language material, linguistic relevance and value of content and illustrative are recommended.

The needs of the profession and the specific language environment; value professional texts and their frequency saturation professional terms; selection of the most used terms are the most important among the criteria for selection of educational material.

Selection, organization and presentation of texts material for the students of the Forestry University helps to determine specific tasks and exercises for each phase of training specific terminology.